Modular Pumptrack

Modular Pumptrack is a customisable system consisting of 11 perfectly engineered modules that come together to create unlimited track designs which deliver the perfect riding flow for any age and ability on bikes, scooters and skateboards all year round.

Like most pump tracks, our Modular Pumptrack lets riders gain and maintain speed around the track without pedalling, but by using pressure to generate propulsion, or put simply, 'pumping'.

Every Modular Pumptrack is a unique play space solution designed for the site requirements and needs of the business owner or community.

Custom design to fit space and budget requirements

Expertly engineered modules so that any track configuration delivers perfect riding flow all year round

Modular system allows track upgrades over time to become bigger, smaller or more complex

Sustainable materials and construction suitable for all climates and year-round usage

Choice of Plywood Composite or Precast Concrete

Custom design and installation for your space.

Parkitect will support your business throughout the life of your track. Starting with custom design, we create the best track for your space and budget, help with installation, and support you with upgrades to your track through changing needs.

Parkitect's Modular Pumptracks are available in a range of colours and a variety of materials including Plywood

Composite and Precast Concrete which can both be installed above ground with no need for dirt or asphalt build methods.

Every Modular Pumptrack has a proprietary non-slip riding surface, uses ecological resins and paints, is fast and simple to install, and resistant to vandalism and weather.

A solution to enhance your business.

At Parkitect we're committed to providing a genuine solution that makes commercial sense as well as offering the guarantee of user satisfaction.

Our Modular Pumptrack system is an accessible entertainment option for tourism operators of all sizes, particularly holiday parks and resorts, across regional and metropolitan Australia. At a lower investment than traditional bike tracks, it's a cost-effective way to offer an on-trend activity that appeals to a wide demographic. Many parks are already seeing a great return on investment with families extending their stay, returning or inviting friends and family to join them.

As a permanent structure at your venue, Modular Pumptracks are low maintenance and offer an all-season activity that's a winner with kids and parents and can help to extend their stay. With wide customer and user satisfaction in Australia, Modular Pumptrack's are proving to be a draw-card with families actively seeking out locations for their next holiday.

Across the country, people are loving Modular Pumptracks.

Our decision to purchase and install the Modular Pumptrack has been supported throughout by the excellent back up and service provided by Parkitect. The equipment arrived on the day promised and we were able to install the track in two days, just in time to have it up and running by the Christmas holiday season. Its use by children of all ages is testimony to the popularity of this facility in our park.
